

Ûldrin

Ûldrin (OOHL-drihn) are humanoids warped by the influence of the Far Realm or another aberrant source, or descended from one (similar to tieflings and aasimar being humanoids affected by fiendish or celestial influence, although ûldrin are much more visually distinct from their non-aberrant heritage). Visually, they share a similar upper body layout to humanoid creatures, with a head atop a thin, human-like body and two “arms”. The similarities stop there; their head is shaped like an almond, with a large, sideways eye taking up much of their face, and their mouth being underneath their chin and resembling a lamprey. Their limbs are more akin to tentacles than a traditional humanoid arm, with each tendrill splitting into two smaller tentacles near the end of each limb to function like hands when used together. From the waist down, an ûldrin resembles an octopus more than a humanoid, with four tentacle-like appendages spreading out beneath its willowy body. An ûldrin’s skin usually ranges in color from shades of pale purple to gray, depending on the individual, and it glistens with a mucus they exude that keeps their body perpetually moist.

As an ûldrin, you have the following racial traits.

Ability Score Increases

When determining your character’s ability scores, increase one score by 2 and increase a different score by 1, or increase three different scores by 1. Follow this rule regardless of the method you use to determine the scores, such as rolling or point buy. The “Quick Build” section for your character’s class offers suggestions on which scores to increase. You can follow those suggestions or ignore them, but you can’t raise any of your scores above 20.

Languages

Your character can speak, read, and write Common and one other language that you and your DM agree is appropriate for the character. The Player’s Handbook offers a list of languages to choose from. The DM is free to modify that list for a campaign.

Creature Type

You are an Aberration.

Size

You are Medium.

Speed

Your walking speed is 25 feet.

Darkvision

You have darkvision out to a range of 60 feet; within that range, you can see in dim light as though it were bright light and in darkness as though it were dim light. You cannot discern color in that darkness, seeing only various shades of gray.

Psychokinesis

Like many aberrations, you have innate psionic abilities that allow you to interact with the world with your mind. You learn the Mage Hand cantrip; when you cast it, you can do so without any spell components, and you can make the hand invisible.

When you reach 5th level, your grasp of psionics grows. As an Action, you can empower your psionics; for the next hour, you can maintain your Mage Hand at twice the distance and lift objects twice as heavy. Additionally, you can hover a few inches off the ground while your psionics are empowered; your movement speeds increase by 10 feet and you leave no footprints on the ground when you move. Note: this does not give you a fly speed or allow you to hover or negate fall damage if you are in the air. Once you have empowered your psionics, you cannot do so again until you finish a long rest.

Aberrant Body

Your body is abnormally thin and pliable, allowing you to squeeze into spaces other creatures might struggle to. You can fit into any spaces wide enough for Small creatures without losing any movement speed, and you can squeeze through gaps that are at least 6 inches wide and 6 inches tall at 5 feet per round. Note: your DM may rule that your equipment cannot fit through those gaps, even if you can.

Imbibement Distributary

The mucus that coats your skin allows you to share the effects of consumables you ingest. Whenever you consume a liquid, such as a potion, an elixir, a poison, or a beverage, you can choose to transmit the effects of this liquid to any creatures you are touching. To receive the effects of the liquid, the creature must be either willing, incapacitated, or grappled by you.

You receive the full effects of the liquid, while the other creatures receive a diluted version of it; if it provides an instantaneous effect, such as healing or damage, they receive only half the effect (to a minimum of 1). If the effect has a duration, it is halved for those creatures. Lastly, if the liquid requires a saving throw, they can make the save with advantage.